DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

CONDITION OF THE MONEY MARKET.

The condition of the money market of the country is referred to as follows by Mr. McCulloch in his annual report:

That money is in demand, and is commanding full rates of interest, is true, but this does not indicate a scarcity of it. The rates of interest in England and France have rarely been as low as within the last four months, and yet for commercial or manufacturing purposes money has not often been so difficult to be obtained.

The speculative reaction or over-production of manufactures, together with apprehensions of political troubles, have caused business to be sluggish and unprofitable, and made capitalists cautious and timid.—Thus, in those countries, money was never more plentiful, and yet apparently never more scarce. Its apparent scarcity in the United States is attributable to high prices, to its uncertain value and to its inactivity.

Money by no means becomes abundant by an increase, or scarce by a diminution, of its volume. The reverse is more likely to be true, especially when, as is generally the case, high prices are speculative prices, and prevent activity in exchanges. Money is in demand at the present time, not so much to move crops as to hold them—not to bring them at reasonable prices within the reach of consumers, but to withhold them from market until a large advance of prices can be established. Let the great staples of the country come forward and be sold at market prices, at such prices as, while the producer is fairly remunerated, will increase consumption and exports—let capitalists be assured that progress towards a stable basis is to be uninterrupted—and money, now considered scarce, will be found to be abundant.

The actual legitimate business of the country is not larger than in 1860, when three hundred millions of coin and bank notes were an ample circulating medium, and when an addition of fifty millions would have made it excessive. Throughout a considerable portion of the best grain-growing sections of the United States there has been, during the past year, great complaint of a scarcity of money, and yet no single article of agricultural product, except wool, was to be sold there, for which there was not a purchaser at more than remunerating, if not exorbitant prices. There was no lack of money in these sections, but a lack of products to exchange for it. The hard times complained of were the consequence of short crops, and not of deficient circulation. To the farmer who had little to sell and much to buy, an increase of the circulation would have been an injury; a curtailment of it a benefit. And yet, by men in such circumstances, the policy of contraction has met with a condemnation second only to that which it has received at the hands of speculators in stocks.

Next to the stock board of the commercial metropolis, the opposition to the policy of contraction has been most decided in those sections where, by reason of short crops, the people have been less prosperous than heretofore. Unfortunately, in the same sections, the harvest has been again unsatisfactory, and the demand, not only for a cessation of contraction, but for an increase of paper money, may thus be more pressing than ever. This demand, no matter from what quarter it comes, or by what interest sustained, should, in the opinion of the Secretary, be inflexibly resisted by Congress. To increase the volume of paper money for the purpose of giving relief to the country, would be to foster the cause in order to cure the disease.

To stay the process of contraction this year, will but prepare the way for an increase of circulation the next. Whenever the policy of reducing the paper circulation of the country, with the view of a return to specie payments, shall be abandoned, it is to be apprehended that the demand for an increase will be irresistible, and that the country will plunge into bankruptcy. The specie standard must be sooner or later restored. Whether this shall be accomplished by elevating the currency by lessening its volume, or after lessening its value by increasing its volume, it is for Congress to determine. That this question will be determined promptly and wisely, the Secretary is not permitted to doubt. Some progress has been made in the right direction during the past year, but there is still in the United States a plethora of paper money.

IMPORTANCE OF SOUTHERN RESTORATION FINANCIALLY CONSIDERED.

Mr. McCulloch, Secretary of the Treasury, in his annual report insists again on the restoration of the Southern States as a question of paramount importance, and says:

A curtailment of the currency and the maintenance of the public faith are not all that is required to restore the country to perfect financial health. We need, in addition to these, a united country—united in fact as well as in name. It may not be proper for the Secretary in this report to discuss the measures regarded by him as best calculated to bring about this most desirable result. This, however, he feels it to be his duty to say, as he substantially said in his last year's report, that the question of reconstruction, as a purely financial question, is, in his judgment, second in importance to none that Congress will ever be called upon to consider. The great staples of the South have for many years constituted a large portion of our exports. But for the cotton held in that section at the close of the rebellion, the foreign exchange would have been so largely against the United States that a commercial revulsion would have been imminent, if not unavoidable.

Even in the deplorable condition of these States, last year more than two-thirds of our exports consisted of their productions, and it is the crop of the present year—small though it may be—that is to save us from ruinous indebtedness to Europe. It is of the greatest moment, therefore, that the productive power of the Southern States should be restored as rapidly as possible.—Little progress has been made in this direction during the past two years, and no real progress will be made until their political condition is determined by their restoration to the Union, with all the rights and privileges of other States, under the constitution. The Secretary does not allude to this subject for the purpose of calling the attention of Congress to it. This is unnecessary. It is absorbing the public attention, and the further action of Congress in relation to it will be watched by the people with intense solicitude. Upon the judicious settlement of it depends, in a great degree, the national prosperity. The views presented by the Secretary, upon this subject, in his last report, are equally appropriate at the present time.

THE FAILURE OF THE FIRST CONVENTION OF KANGAROOS.

The insufferable stench of the negro Convention at Montgomery has proved too much for even the strong stomach of Gen. Pope, although accustomed, during his three years of banishment among the Indians, to the unsavory councils and conventions of the Camanches and Blackfeet. He has pronounced the Alabama Convention a nuisance and obstacle in the path of reconstruction, and evidently contemplates, some bright morning, kicking it out of doors as Cromwell did his "crop eared Parliament."

The monstrous, open and hideous crimes of the Mongrel Convention in Alabama have alarmed the Radicals, and the military bully who convened that body is now anxious to throttle it. But these loathsome monuments of Radical malignancy, these deliberate conspiracies to Africanize ten States and put the foot of the negro upon the neck of the white man, will work the ruin of their inventors before they perish. The negro, like the old man of the sea, has the Radical party by the throat and will not let go. The gorillas at Montgomery howl with rage at the attempt of the disgusted Pope to break up their carnival, and by their war upon the white race are fast making the Northern people converts to the extreme doctrines of Brick Pomeroy, and of the pious and learned Western clergyman who has just written a pamphlet to prove that the negro has no soul; and went into the Ark with the irrational animals at the time of the Deluge.

Already the negroes and the Alabama Hunnicutts and Underwoods have rendered a war of races inevitable in that State the very moment the military are withdrawn. They have added fresh enormities to the Reconstruction acts, and made Alabama as unfit for the residence of a white man as are Hayti and Dahomey. Every white man is to be disfranchised who does not swear that he will never dispute the right of the negro to political and civil equality, the people are to be taxed for the education of black and white children in the same schools, negroes have been virtually exempted from taxation, and a black militia, regularly drilled and uniformed, is to be organized to hold the whites down with the bayonet.—The negro programme in Alabama looks to the degradation and impoverishment by taxation of the white race, and its enforcement would justify the whites in the immediate resort to decisive measures for ridding the State of their brutal oppressors.—Richmond Examiner.

Valuable Property For Sale.

BY VIRTUE OF A DEED OF TRUST executed to me, by the late Wm. F. Collins, I will sell, on Monday, the 13th day of January, 1868, to the highest bidder, at the Court House door in Warrenton, the following valuable property:

The Tract of Land on which the late Wm. F. Collins resided, at the time of his death, situated in Warren County, on the Williamsboro' Road, two (2) miles from Ridgeway Depot, on the R & G. R. R., and adjoining the lands of Jno. E. Jones, B. M. Collins and others, containing

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-TWO (172) ACRES.

On this Tract are situated the celebrated RIDGEWAY MILLS, which are not surpassed in the manufacture of Flour by any in the State. The Mills are in first-rate running order.

There are on the premises a Dwelling House, the necessary out-houses, barns, stables, &c., for conducting a farm. The land is under good fences and in a high state of cultivation, about one-half the tract being in original woods, convenient to the House and Mill.

There is also a fine young Orchard of Apple and Peach trees, well selected, and several young vines of the Scuppernong Grape.

Persons wishing to purchase would do well to examine the property before the sale.

Terms made known on day of sale.

THIS NEW TRUNK LINE FORMS A GREAT FREIGHT ROUTE between Baltimore and Weldon, Warrenton, Raleigh, Hillsboro', Lexington, Salisbury, Morganton, Charlotte, Lincolnton, Goldsboro', Newbern, Beaufort, Wilmington, Chesterville, Winnsboro', Columbia, Sumterville, Manchester, and all intermediate points on and near these great Railways and their connections.

The Powhatan Steamers connect at Petersburg with Petersburg Railway for all points in the Carolinas. Cars are run alongside of Steamers' Wharf and goods transferred with careful handling. Cars are run through without breaking bulk between Petersburg and Raleigh. Charlotte, Goldsboro', Wilmington, &c., &c. This Inland Line possesses many advantages over a Sea Route. Marine risk is small and insurance is comparatively nothing. The Wharf of the Powhatan Steamers being situated in the very centre of the grain-shipping district of Baltimore, renders it convenient to shippers, and drayage is very small.

Great attention paid to consignments of Cotton, Corn, Wheat, Rosin, &c. &c. All produce forwarded at the lowest possible rates.

☞ To insure transportation over this Inland Fast Line, mark all goods, whether Northward or Southward bound, "Via Petersburg."

☞ Freight landed in Baltimore day following delivery to the Steamers.

Through Receipts are given and fixed rate per 100 pounds guaranteed both ways.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1867.

THE CONVENTION (SO-CALLED.)

We presume that, in the course of a few days, we shall have the order of General Canby, convoking the Convention, which is ordered to make a Constitution for the State of North Carolina. We have not thought it worth while to cumber our columns with the list of delegates elect, for the reason that such a publication would convey but little information to our readers. So far as the Radical delegates are concerned,—the motley crew of foreigners, negroes and nonentities,—hardly one in ten of them was ever heard of before, or will ever be heard of again. Our readers would be no wiser, after seeing their names in print, than they are now. When the Convention assembles, however, we will gratify their ambition by putting them in type, with such explanations and descriptions as will enable the people to form some idea of the men who are to frame their organic law.

When Conventions have heretofore assembled in North Carolina, they have been called by the people,—the intelligent, taxpaying, white people of the State. This Convention assembles in obedience to the behests of a Congress, which has assumed, after a four years war waged to vindicate the indissolubility of the Union, that North Carolina is out of the Union, and that it has the right to act with it as a strip of conquered territory. It assembles, the instrument of a revolutionary Congress, and the creature of a minority of the white, taxpaying, intelligent citizens of the State and of a horde of ignorant, fanatical negroes. Twenty,—yes, ten,—years hence, when all of this work of aggression and usurpation shall have been undone, and the record of these times shall have passed into history, even at that early day in the future men will remember these things with loathing or will read them with a shudder.

Hitherto, when elections for such Conventions have been held, they have been conducted according to the forms and usages prescribed by our own laws. Those, which have just transpired, were controlled by the sword,—the military power dictating the manner of conducting them, the mode of making returns, and even the form of the ballot. The appointees of the same power, generally of a partisan stripe in accordance with the policy which set up that power above the civil authority, in a time of peace, in defiance of the Bill of Rights and of the Constitution of the country, have been invested with a well-nigh arbitrary authority to make or un-make voters, according to their own prejudices or caprice.

Under such circumstances, the character of the Conventions which have been chosen, in North Carolina and in the other Southern States, is not to be wondered at, however greatly to be deplored. It was not expected by Congress, or the dominant party, that any but the most meagre and inconsiderable portion of the Southern white people, either in numbers, standing or influence, would sanction the rape of their rights and endorse the degradation of their manhood contemplated by its policy, and hence its investiture of an ignorant race with political privileges, without which its last hope of continued party ascendancy and of the spoils would surely be defeated. It reasoned correctly. Nine-tenths of the white men of the South, while disposed to acquiesce, with as much manly submission as is possible under all the aspects of the case, in whatever is forced upon them by a power which they cannot resist, look with abhorrence and disgust upon the contaminations to which they are subjected, and raise their hands in quiet but indignant protest against the spoliation of their rights and their honor. The composition of the Convention in this State,—the material of which it is made up,—is the amplest proof that Congress reasoned correctly, and that it did not misjudge the manhood of our people or mistake their character.

Without going into detail, look at it: Who are the men that are selected to carry out the Congressional ukase and frame the Constitution of forse for North Carolina? What has any of them done in the past to bring them into notice? Who are they? Who ever heard of half a dozen of them before? They have been brought to the surface, which they would never otherwise have reached, by that upheaving of all the elements of political society, which, like the boiling of a cauldron, brings the scum to the top.

Some of these days, let history draw a broad, black expunging line around the events of these times, that our children may not read, with shame and humiliation, the blot upon the otherwise untarnished annals of North Carolina!

One or two examples will suffice to illustrate what we have said as to the character of the coming Convention. Craven was represented, in the Convention of 1835, by William Gaston and Richard Dobbs Speight. It is mis-represented, in 1867, by one negro, and two men who have hardly acquired a domicil in the State, and whose only prominence, so far as we know, consists in the fact that they have "feathered their nests" pretty well as Federal officers. A negro, in 1867, comes from the county which sent Nathaniel Macon to the Convention of 1835. Guilford, which honored itself by sending Jno. M. Morehead to that body, is now disgraced in the person of one Tourgee, who, not being appreciated in Ohio, has squatted in this State. Halifax, which sent John Branch, is represented by two negroes; and Bertie, which elected David Outlaw, also sends two negroes, both of whom are described as unusually illiterate, and one of whom is said to be as vicious as he is ignorant. We might run the parallel further and throughout, but our very pen sickens at the shame of the land, which has heretofore been the object of our pride, no less than of our affections!

RADICAL VIOLENCE.

The extremes to which the vindictive spirit of Radicalism has carried the Convention of Alabama are not relished by the more politic and sensible Radicals of the North. Mr. Greely and his adherents have been especially dissatisfied, and Senator Wilson, it is said, has urged upon the Convention greater moderation.

The pretense of any Radical that he desires, prefers moderation, is hypocritical.—Radical principles are necessarily violent.—They propose great changes, require boldness and high mettle to carry them out, and these necessarily imply violence, if opposed. Hence, while moderate Republicans, so called, prefer, if their measures can be carried out with a show of liberality and moderation, to have them thus accomplished, yet it is palpable, from the entire history of the party, that success, and a determination to carry out the programme of negro equality, are the only measures of moderation which they hold. It must be done, moderation or no moderation, is their motto!

Senator Wilson, who has been claimed as a moderate by some, exhibited the true type of the Republican of these latter days, in his remarks on President J'hnson's message, in the Senate, a day or two ago. "Congress is not to be stopped in its course by the President or the press,"—"Indeed Congress is in advance of the people, but the people will come to it or follow on." This is the real old Puritanic spirit and temper, which never tires till worked down. The people have, however, spoken, and will speak still louder in the future elections, until Radicalism is annihilated and the Constitution and the Union are restored.

CONGRESS AND THE BLACKS LIBELLED.

Senator Wilson, of Mass., declares in his place, in the U. S. Senate, that President Johnson, in asserting that the blacks, as a race, are unfit to discharge properly the elective franchise, libelled the Congress and the colored race.

Such a fanatic as Wilson may really think so, but the declaration of President Johnson will be sustained by the experience and observation of every honest and intelligent man, white or black, in the South. We have never seen a colored man yet, of any intelligence, who does not admit the total unfitness of the mass of his race to exercise the elective franchise. Thousands of them, in the late elections, declared that they did not know for whom or for what they voted—that they were told to vote a certain ticket, and all things would come out right; and they did so, knowing nothing about it. They were led like sheep by the leaders and the leagues, not knowing what would result from it, yet hoping for the best for themselves. It would be as hard for Mr. Wilson to make out a case of libel against the President, as it has been for Ashley to make up a case of impeachment.

MAJOR GEN. POPE is supremely disgusted. The thing called the Alabama Convention, which owes so much to his plastic hand, and in whose manipulation he took such especial pains, turns out, like the monster of Frankenstein, a creature filled with the spirit of evil, and spurning the control of him who fashioned it. Alarmed at so reckless an abuse of the power with which it has been invested, General Pope, has felt himself constrained to inquire of his subordinate, General Swayne, whether the Convention cannot be induced to sacrifice itself on the altar of the Public Good by decreeing its own dissolution? Not once only, but twice, has he asked this question; declaring, at the same time, that the recent acts of the Convention "are doing incalculable injury to reconstruction." Indignant at being taken to task by a mere military satrapt and evidently estimating themselves infinitely superior to the man who made them what they are, the members of the Convention stigmatize in turn Pope's interrogatory as "insulting." Here's gratitude for you!

IN THE ALABAMA Convention, the ordinance to prohibit marriages between whites and blacks was defeated. The extreme whites and the negro delegates strongly opposed it. This is, to say the least, consistent in the Radicals. They are but carrying out the legitimate practical tendencies of their theories.

NEGRO ORATORY.—In the Virginia Convention, on Wednesday, it was proposed to elect a stenographer for the concern.—Whereupon, Lindsey, the negro delegate from Richmond, delivered himself thusly:

"Mis tar Presi-dent, I hope in dis late hour ob de struggle dat Old Virginia have been imperilled that no free thinkin' man can sup pose for a momunt dat we desires to misripersaint de idee dat we can't qualify de ability of de sternorgerphy for dis Convention. I hope evy good-thinkin' gentleman will observe de necessity of havin' a stenography, an' dat dey will be willin' in de desire to gain de ability of de Commonwealth of Ferginny to see dat de gentleman is justly deserve. I hope, sir, dat evy gentleman will now see de necessity of havin' dis stenogerphy, so that we can then be able to understand de principles of dar proposition." [Laughter.]

FIRE.—We regret to learn that the store and large and handsome stock of goods, of Spier's, at the Company's Shops, in Alamance county, was entirely destroyed by fire on Friday evening last. The property was partly insured. The loss of Mr. S., we understand, will be heavy—exceeding ten thousand dollars. The fire was accidental. —Greensboro' Patriot.

The Lynchburg Virginian has received a letter from General Jubal A. Early, dated Drummondville, Proviuce of Ontario, Canada. The General enjoys very good health.

It is stated that the Mackay gun with a charge of 12lbs has sent a 72lb bolt over 5000 yards.

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

We have not been able, until this late hour, to obtain the appointments of the preachers of the N. C. Conference of the M. E. Church, South, just closed at Wilmington. The session was a very harmonious one. On Tuesday night, the preachers met to close up the business and receive their appointments. A plan was submitted by Drs. Deems and Closs, to raise funds for rebuilding Greensboro Female College, which was adopted. Highly complimentary resolutions to Dr. Deems were adopted, in connection with a request to continue him in New York in charge of the Church of the Strangers. GENERAL MOWER TO REJOIN HIS REGIMENT.—General Hancock has issued an order directing Lieutenant Colonel Wood to relieve General Mower, and that when the latter is so relieved he proceed to join the headquarters of his regiment at Greenville, La.

ALARMING STATE OF AFFAIRS IN ALABAMA—ARMED RISING OF NEGROES—TROOPS SENT TO THE SPOT—ARRESTS, &c.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Dec. 4.

Alarming excesses have recently been committed by the blacks in Bullock county. In the neighborhood of Perote the colored Loyal Leaguers organized and resisted the processes of civil law. Under instructions from colored emissaries they formed a code of laws to govern the negro population, opened a court, officered and organized, arresting by night all blacks who opposed their unlawful proceedings, and carried punishment so far that their victims applied to the civil authorities for protection.

The black "sheriff" and his deputy were finally arrested, but other insurrectionary leaders organized the negroes and made armed resistance. Aid from other leagues was summoned, and the blacks flocked to Union Springs, threatening a general rising and extermination of the whites and taking possession of the country. The black leaders went to plantations and forced laborers to join them for vengeance, showing pretended orders from Gen. Swayne giving them the right to kill all resisting their authority.

During the excitement a negro church at Perote was burned by unknown parties (alleged to be the negroes themselves) to influence the blacks. The whites universally regret it.

The white citizens have organized for protection.

Gen. Swayne was appealed to, and promptly sent a detatchment of troops to the scene of trouble to restore order.

Fifteen black insurrectionists have been arrested and lodged in jail to be tried by civil authorities.

At last accounts order was restored and all was quiet.

AN ORDINANCE TO DIVORCE ALL THE WIVES OF THE REBELS IN ALABAMA.—A colored delegate drew up the following, but being considered out of order, was not introduced:

Whereas, By the late rebellion all who participated therein in the State of Alabama were guilty of treason; and whereas, treason being the greatest of crimes, involves all others, and should be punished with forfeiture of all rights, privileges and immunities; and whereas, marriage involves one of the most valued of social and legal rights,

Therefore be it ordained by the people of Alabama, in Convention assembled: That all who participated in, or sympathized with the late rebellion against the United States, are guilty of treason, and are hereby declared to be traitors, and are hereby declared to have incurred all the penalties and forfeitures, rightly and justly, incidental to such criminals; and whereas, such traitors are civilly dead, and all who are bound to them should be absolved in law from all obligations of every kind, moral, social, domestic and political, therefore be it further ordained, that any woman who may have entered into the bonds of matrimony with such traitors shall be, and is hereby authorized and empowered to file in the Probate Court of the county in which she resides a declaration of her will and purpose to be divorced from such traitor; and upon the filing of such declaration, it should be the duty of the Judge of Probate to enter upon the minutes of the court a decree dissolving forever the bonds of matrimony in such case, and giving the said applicant all the rights, privileges and capacities of a "femme sole," and all children begotten of such marriage, between the 11th day of January, 1861, and the 21st of July, 1865, are hereby declared to be bastards.

GOVERNOR VANCE.—This distinguished gentleman left Norfolk day before yesterday, and we are gratified to know that he carried with him a warm and kindly remembrance of his reception among us.

On behalf of the community we are authorized to say that his visit was not only agreeable but of substantial service.

Old and young, rich and poor, high and low, were equally charmed with his address, and he has infused a new life into our entire community.

There is but one opinion among us in regard to his effort on Monday night.

In solid sense, in genuine humor, in pointed antithesis, in lofty declamation, and true eloquence, it was a master piece of oratory.

But beyond this, it was a most gratifying sight to see North Carolina and Virginia standing up shoulder to shoulder, as it were, in this first dress parade of the organized strength of the white men of Norfolk. The old North State could not have had a nobler representative, nor could the mother of States have given him a more affectionate and cordial welcome than he received in this "Ancient Borough."

We congratulate North Carolina on the possession of such an orator, and confess to a feeling of envy that he was not born on this side of the "dividing line." But, we console ourselves with the reflection that that "line" is geographical, and not moral, or political or social. Finally, as was eloquently remarked at the end of the address by an appreciative Virginian, THREE CHEERS FOR GOVERNOR VANCE!!—Norfolk Virginian.

ANOTHER PHARAOH DROWNED, THOUGH NOT IN THE RED SEA—A CASWELL STREAM MADE HISTORIC.—Pharaoh Glass, an aged negro, of Caswell county, recently committed suicide by drowning himself. Pharaoh always sustained the character of a very worthy, industrious darkey, and bid fair to live out the allotted time of three score years and ten, until, in an unlucky moment, he was appointed one of the board of registrars for Caswell county, of which A. W. Tourgee was chairman. It is presumed by some that the many intricate teachings of Tourgee on the subject of confiscation, non-taxation, negro suffrage, &c., were more than an aged "man and brother" could stand, and in a fit of temporary aberration he destroyed himself; though in charity to the deceased we are fain to express the belief that a remorse of conscience, after an association of a few days with such a man as the chairman of his board, impelled him to commit the rash act.—Greensboro' Patriot.

ORDERS REVOKED.—General Hancock, at New Orleans, has revoked some of General Mower's orders, among them that removing from office Smith Izard, chief of police, and appointing in his place Porter V. Perkins; and that removing Lieut. O'Donnell, Lt. of Police in the Second District, and appointing Angelo O. Ward. General Hancock has also revoked Gen. Mower's order appointing R. King Cutler Judge of the Second judicial district court of Louisiana.

A GOOD MAN GONE.—We are pained to record the death of Mr. William Flynt, who died at his residence near Old Town, in this county, on Friday morning, the 29th of November. Mr. Flynt was one of our most respected and useful citizens, and his death will be felt as a public loss to the county. He was, for a number of years, Sheriff of the county, and discharged his official duties with a marked fidelity which gave satisfaction to the citizens, and rendered him one of the most popular officers the county has ever had. He was buried with Masonic honors by the Winston Lodge, of which he was a faithful member.—Winston Sentinel.

$50 Reward.

ON SATURDAY NIGHT LAST my Horse was stolen from my premises, in Sampson County. The horse is dark-colored, somewhat inclined to gray; a small spot on each side of his back, nearly white, caused probably by the saddle; a little white on one of the hind feet, near the hoof. He was four years old last Spring, and is good-sized, though slim-built, and not in very good order.

I have reason to believe that the horse was stolen by a black man formerly in my employ.—He is slim-built, with very suspicious looking eyes, about five feet ten inches high, wore a drab-colored, slouched hat, a light colored sack coat, rather short, with pants of the same color and much worn.

I will pay a reward of Twenty-five dollars for the recovery of the horse, or fifty dollars for his recovery and sufficient evidence to convict the thief. ERASMUS B. LEE.

Valuable Lands and Mills for Sale.

PURSUANT TO A DECREE OF THE COURT of Equity for Johnston County, at Fall Term, 1867, I shall, on Saturday, the 18th day of January next, on the premises, proceed to sell, at public sale, that valuable property, near Boon Hill, in said County, known as consisting of fifteen hundred and ninety-five acres of Land, lying near the North Carolina Railroad, and within one and a half miles of Boon Hill Depot.

The said lands are the first quality of Cotton lands. About 300 acres are cleared, and have been in cultivation. The rest is in primitive forest, and is well timbered, although a considerable quantity of Pine Timber has been cut off.

The improvements consist of an excellent Saw Mill, with a forty-two inch circular Saw, run by a Jonvals Turbine Wheel, which, for beauty of work and quickness of cutting, is unsurpassed.—There is also a tram road from the Mill to the Railroad where there is a turnout. Also a Grist Mill, which will grind 60 bushels of corn per day. Also a Store and Office, a Blacksmith Shop, and four houses for operatives, and beautifully situated on a hill, containing eight rooms, to which are attached all necessary outhouses and Stables, with two Gardens, one of which contains one of the largest and finest Scuppernong Arbors in the State.

The water on the place is excellent, and it is one of the healthiest locations in the low country.

TERMS OF SALE:

One hundred and fifty dollars cash; four thousand two hundred and fifty dollars on the 4th Monday in March, 1868, and notes at six and twelve months from the day of sale, bearing interest. For the balance, bonds with approved security will be required, and the title retained until the purchase money is paid. Possession given on the first day of February, 1868.

DR. J. J. LAWRENCE—Dear Sir—Please send me immediately per Express to Tarboro, two dozen more bottles of your Rosadalis. I have carefully examed its Formula, and have used it in my practice in a number of cases. I am well pleased with it. I think it, beyond doubt, the best Alterative I ever used. I have tried it in several cases of Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, &c., with much satisfaction to myself and patients. I have also used it in Secondary and Teritary Syphilis, [one a terrible case of eight years' standing,] in which it acted with surprising and satisfactory effect—making a quick and thorough cure. I have, therefore, no hesitation in recommending it to Physicians and others, as the most reliable Alterative now known.

Respectfully yours, &c.,

A Wonderful Cure of Scrofulous White Swelling.

HOME CERTIFICATE.

I hereby certify, that last September I was attacked with White Swelling of the left knee—and also with an enlargement of the glands of the neck—[the tumor reached a large size.] The swelling of the knee was enormous, and was attended with the most excruciating pains. I was so reduced that I was confined to my room over three months. My leg was so completely drawn up, that I could not bend it at all. I tried various remedies, and they failed to give me any relief. I was in this condition when I commenced taking Dr. Lawrence's Rosadalis. The swelling in the knee and neck began to subside before I took all of the first bottle. By the time I took the second bottle, the swelling of the neck entirely disappeared and that of the knee nearly so. After taking three bottles I found myself completely well—able to walk as well as ever, &c.

I hereby certify that, during the summer and fall of 1866, that I was severely afflicted with Carbuncles—having had as many as fourteen large Carbuncles, and twelve ordinary Boils. I suffered so much from them that I could not get out of the house half the time for several months. Being induced to try Dr. Lawrence's Rosadalis, I was entirely cured by the use of one bottle of that truly valuable medicine.

PERSONAL.—We have been pleased to see in the City, within the past day or two, our excellent friend and contemporary, Hon. Lewis Hanes, of the Salisbury Old North State.

RUMORS.—We hear a rumor of certain manœuvering, on the part of the few white and the many black Radicals in this City, to upset the present municipal government and place it in the hands of certain of their own white-black-and-tan set. When the rumor assumes some shape of reality, we will "ventilate" the whole thing as it deserves.

CITY PROPERTY.—In these times of financial stringency, when parties, generally, wish cash for everything they sell, it is not often property is offered for sale on such advantageous terms as are offered by Col. Russ. It will be observed, by reference to the advertisement, that he proposes to sell nine valuable lots, all of them having improvements, on liberal credits. Those wishing to purchase, under highly favorable circumstances, therefore, will do well to consult Col. Russ at once.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—Rev. Dr. Williams, of South Carolina, who has been invited to the Pastorate of the Baptist Church in this City, has arrived, and will preach to that congregation to-morrow forenoon and night.

BASE-BALL.—The University B. B. Club have surrendered the champion Ball of the State, for the reasons stated in the subjoined Card:

CHAPEL HILL, Nov. 23rd. 1867.

WHEREAS: It appears probable, that, on account of the difficulty of access to Chapel Hill, no further challenge will be received by the University Base Ball Club; in order, therefore, to enable the champion ball to be contended for upon the lines of the railway, and thereby to foster the national game within the State,

Resolved, That the University Base Ball Club, of Chapel Hill, do hereby resign to the State Association of Base Ball Players, or, in the probable event of their failure to assemble in November, to the clubs generally throughout the State, their right to the champion ball of North Carolina.

FAB. H. BUSBEE, Pres
W. E. MURCHISON, Sec'y.

SPECIAL TERMS.

Gov. Worth has recently made the following appointments:

Judge Barnes to hold special term of Superior Court for Wake County, commencing Wednesday, 11th of December next.

Also to hold special term for Cumberland County, commencing on Monday, January 27, 1868.

Judge Buxton to hold special term for Bladen county, commencing on Monday, 16th December next.

Also to hold special term for Halifax Co., commencing on Monday, 6th day of January, 1868.

Judge Mitchell to hold a special term for Mecklenburg Co., commencing Monday, 9th of December, 1867.

CORRECTION.—The statement has been published several times in our State papers, that his Honor Judge Little had resigned his Judgeship. This rumor we ought to have corrected several days ago. The rumor is untrue.

OAK CITY BAND.—We understand that a Brass Band, with this name, has been organized in this City, composed entirely of colored men. It is designed, we are told, to supply the lack of music on public occasions. It will require $175 to purchase the instruments, of which only $100 have been raised. Rufus R. Harrison, leader, we learn, is authorized to receive subscriptions.

CONDITION OF MR. STEVENS.—The feebleness of the condition of Hon. Thad. Stevens was fully demonstrated in the House to day when he offered two or three resolutions. In presenting the resolutions he stood beside the clerk, and his voice could scarcely be heard at a distance of one hundred feet. When the President's message was read he for a while occupied a seat near the clerk, but subsequently left the hall and retired to his Committee room. It is to his friends painfully evident that he is failing very rapidly, and he appears to be worse now than he was at the opening of the session of Congress.—Sun letter.

HELP FOR "DE BRUDDER."—The Hon. (?) Mr. Williamson, Esq., member elect to the "Convenshun," being short of "mopussas," made a touching appeal, a few days ago, to "lege," located in Campbell, some six or eight miles from town, for the wherewithal to buy himself an overcoat in which to encase his odeliferous person, while attending the deliberations of the body to which he is so great an ornament (over the left.)—Lynchburg News.

GEN. GRANT'S VIEWS—VERY SATISFACTORY.—Now, and for the future, it may be as well to state, for the instruction and guidance of all parties, that General Grant will reject any platform in which negro suffrage is introduced as a fundamental plank. On every other point of our domestic or foreign policy the General is indifferent, whether it be Democratic or Republican, as long as it tends to advance the welfare and greatness of the Republic.—*N. TELEGRAPHIC.

Friday Evening Dispatches.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6, M.

The impeachment argument attracts but little attention. Boutwell's line of argument is mainly to show that the Committee was right in its report, though the House should refuse to impeach. He combats Wilson's position that impeachment is possible only on indictable offences.

The impression is, that after Wilson's speech, the whole matter will be tabled.

The London Times, commenting in severe terms on President Johnson's message, says:—"It is hard to see where the hope of the American people lies—between Johnson on the one side, and Stevens on the other. The President's remarks, coupled with Stanly's recent dispatch on the Alabama claims, create considerable distrust in financial circles."

The Senatorial caucus has decided to retain Forney as Secretary.

The Revenue from Spirits, during the fiscal year ending 30th. of June last was $28,250,000.

Gen. Grant's corrected estimates for the army, reduces the sum to $37,000,000.

A private dispatch from New York says, that a Banker on Wall Street had twenty $1,000 legal tenders passed on him this morning.

The vote yesterday in the Senate, on striking the word "white" from the District laws and ordinances was strictly party, indicating that the late elections have had no effect on Senatorial Radicalism.

The proceedings in the House to-day, indicate that there are 53 for impeachment, and 110 against it. On the Republican side of the House here is 50 majority opposed to it.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6, P. M.

Senate—Resolutions of the Louisiana Convention, asking the repeal of the cotton tax, was presented.

The concurrent resolution that the President's message was derogatory to the dignity of Congress, was set for one o'clock, Monday.

House.—Mr. Boutwell, resumed his argument on impeachment.

Mr. Wilson, followed, and moved that the whole matter be tabled.

A demand for the previous question was seconded, but the vote was staved off by a vote of 62 to 108. The 68 continued filibustering calls of the House for two hours and a half, when the House adjourned till to-morrow.

VIRGINIA CONVENTION.

RICHMOND, Dec. 6, P. M.

The Convention to-day, appointed a Committee to report the best practical plan for framing the Constitution.

The Committee on Education, was ordered to enquire into the expediency of establishing a system of Schools, that will secure an education to all youths.

The Committee on Elections were instructed to enquire into and report if any members of the Convention are disfranchised and who they are.

Gen. Schofield, and staff were extended the privilege of the floor.

Resolutions favoring the repeal of the Cotton tax on this years crop was laid on the table.

LOUISIANA CONVENTION.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 6, P. M.

The resolution, fixing the compensation of members and employees of the Convention provides, that compensation shall begin from the date of the election or appointment.

In discussing this resolution a negro member said, they had been slaves long enough, and now wanted to enjoy some of the luxuries of freedom. He wanted all the money that could be got.

The resolution was adopted by 65 to 23.

The following was offered yesterday, as an article of the proposed Constitution:

Resolved, That the faith of the State shall never again be pledged to protect the landed monopoly of the Mississippi bottoms, by the erection of levees or otherwise but the State may assist in redeeming said land from inundation whenever such a system of agricultural economy shall be adopted, as will secure to the real tiller of the soil the first and legitimate fruits of his labor, by an equitable distribution of the right of ownership in homestead farms.

Referred.

A series of articles for incorporation into the Constitution were offered and referred. Among them are the following:

The State Constitution and laws are abolished and the common law of England prior to the fourth year of the reign of King James, substituted as the laws of the State, until repealed, except the provisions for imprisonment for debt. It provides that no person shall ever be imprisoned for debt. Capital punishment is forever abolished.

THE BLIND BOY'S LAMENT.

BY HOWARD HAMILTON.

O, reader, thou can'st never know
The bitter pangs of those like me,
Who have eternal gloom to play
Above the orbs designed to see.

I hear the singing of the birds,
The soft breeze as it gently sighs,
But little pleasure these can give
To those who weep but have no eyes.

It is in dreams alone I see,
When stillness binds the pall of night;
When fairies dance around and play,
Methinks with joy I have my sight.

When day is here, and others go,
I am alone—am left behind;
"Thou can'st not come with us," they say,
"Because, poor boy, thou art too blind."

'Tis very dull to be so blind,
And oft I murmur in despair,
When Satan whispers in mine ear
"How hard a cross thine is to bear."

To this an angel ever adds,
"'Tis but a proof of Jesus' love,
He blinds thee to the things below,
That thou may'st see the realms above."

MR. DICKENS IN BOSTON.

HIS FIRST READING IN AMERICA.

[From the Correspondence of N. Y. Tribune.]

* * * * * * * *

I have said that Dickens is an artist in all he does, and seldom have I seen a more finished piece of work than this whole reading. So careful is he of every point, that nothing shall go amiss, that he has brought with him from England all the appointments by which he is surrounded, when he reads at home. At the back of the platform is stretched a long screen covered with dark red cloth—red at least it looked by gaslight, though Fields told me it was purple—and in front of it stands a table with square legs covered with rich crimson velvet—the top, also, covered with the same, hanging over the edge, and bordered with a heavy fringe. At one side of this table projects a little shelf, also covered with velvet, on which are a water bottle and glass, and at the left hand corner is a square block about eight inches high—that also covered, top and sides, with velvet, like the rest. On this block the reader rests his book, and uses it, beside, as an accessory in his by-play. Now it is "Bob Cratchite's" desk in "Scrooge's" office. Now it is "Mr. Pizziwig's" desk, from which he looks benignantly down on his apprentices. Now it is the desk on which rests the Christmas goose of the Cratchite family. A very useful little velvet box Mr. Dickens makes it, I assure you, and the audience gets to look upon it as quite a delightful piece of furniture.

Mr. Dickens is not quite as rigid in his punctuality as dear Fanny Kemble used to be, who began like a beautiful fate, the minute the clock struck eight, no matter whether people had come or not, and treated the laggards to bewitching frowns as they crept belated up the aisles. But at last he comes! He enters, holding the books in both his hands; comes up the steps with a quick, springing walk, and, standing at his velvet desk, proceeds to work, like a man of business. He is dressed with perfect neatness and simplicity, not a trace of the old foppery—the Autumn's flower of all the youthful dandyism is seen in his button-hole in the shape of a white carnation, and a pink rose-bud on his shirt front. There is nothing more pretending than a plain gold stud. He has, to be sure, considerable watch-chain, and on his finger a diamond ring—but nothing is noticeable in his dress. He stands there a quiet gentleman, plain Charles Dickens, and that name is grace and ornament enough.

For a Boston audience, his reception is remarkably enthusiastic. Seldom does the polished ice of this proper community crack as loudly and as cheerily under the thawing beams of any intellectual sun, as it did to-night when Dickens stood before them, and, while cheer after cheer broke forth, and cries of welcome and clapping of innumerable kids rose and fell and rose again in a friendly roar, tried to speak and was defeated, and returned gallantly to the charge again, but had scarcely got as far as "Ladies" when he was obliged to succumb, and made another dash at "Gentlemen," and gave it up, and at last saw that one Englishman was nothing to so many hundred Yankees, and waited smiling and bowing until they had had their will, and were ready to let him have his.

The very first word "Marley was dead, to begin with! That was certain,"—settled the question of success. The way in which those words were uttered, showed also that the reading was to depend for all effect upon the worth of what was read, and upon the sincerity of the reader. From first to last there is no trickery in it—full of action, abounding in gesture, with a voice of every character in every mood; with a face for every man, woman and child, reflecting every feeling. There is no straining for stage effect, no attitudizing, no affectation. The most effective reading we ever listened to—it was the most beautifully simple, straightforward, hearty piece of painting from life. Dear Boo Cratchite made twenty-five hundred friends before he had spoken two words, and if everybody had obeyed the impulse of his heart, and sent him a Christmas goose, he would have been suffocated in a twinkling, under a mountain of poultry. As for the delightful Fizziwigs, not the coldest heart in the audience, but warmed to them at once. Probably never was a ball so thoroughly enjoyed as the one given by these worthy people to their apprentices. The greatest hit of the evening was the point where the dance executed by Mr. and Mrs. Fizziwigs to Miss Fizziwig was described. The contagion of the audience's laughter reached Mr. Dickens himself, who with difficulty brought out the inimitable drollery: "after which Mr. Fizziwig cut positively—cut so that a light seemed to shine from his very calves, and he actually WINKED with his legs." This was too much for Boston, and I thought the roof would go off. Next to this, the most effective point was Tiny Tim, whose plaintive treble, with Bob Cratchite's way of speaking of him, brought out so many pocket handkerchiefs that it looked as if a snow storm had somehow got into the hall without tickets. Seldom do we hear such genuine pathos as that with which Mr. Dickens read the poor father's lament over his little lame child, and great was the genius which enabled him to walk so safely on the dangerous edge that separates nature, pure and simple, from mere travestie.

The Christmas party at the house of "Scrooge's" nephew, where Tuppins plays blind man's buff with the plump sister in the lace tucker, was a thing never to be forgotten. When Dickens said, "I no more believe that that man was blindfolded than I believe that he had eyes in his boots," his facial expression—indignant as of a man who is being put upon, and yet with a consciousness of the absurdity of the statement that makes him laugh in spite of his anger—was inimitable, and it was long before the audience would let him go on. At last we had it, and the plump sister with the lace-tucker to become immortal. There was an intermission of about ten minutes between the reading of "The Christmas Carol" and "The Trial Scene from Pickwick," and as he closed the book with Tiny Tim's "God bless us every one," the enthusiasm of the vast assembly broke forth in loud expressions, as to those who know the impassive nature of Boston audiences, showed plainly enough, that the heart under all their silk and broadcloth was fairly stirred and beating with warm good will. But Dickens was plainly not to be persuaded into a speech. For all the uproar, he did not appear again, until the court called up the case of Bardell versus Pickwick. It was easy to see that the reader himself had a peculiar affection for this part—a leaf torn from a book that is associated with the beginning of his fame, the end out of which this splendid tree-stock, set with flower and fruit, has grown. He read it with full force, throwing himself into it with all his heart, and, I may add, with all his body, for he put much more acting into this part of his reading than into the first part. Sergeant Buzfuz's speech to the jury was without a flaw, a pearl of the art of acting, and no words of mine or anybody could express the way in which Nathaniel Winkle was before us. Not less excellent was the Judge—the sourest, dryest, most cross-grained piece of legal stupidity that ever was seen or heard of. Talk about facial expression, nothing more wonderful was ever seen than the change from the Judge, who seemed to always be smelling something disagreeable, to the frank, cheery face of Samuel Weller, as fresh as a rose and as good to look at. Here was a scene. The minute the Court said, "Call up Samuel Weller," that friend of near 30 years' standing was recognized by all Boston, at a glance, and his mounting the stand was a signal for such a hand shaking (speaking in a figure) that he will never forget. And wasn't it jolly to see him, and jolly to hear him, jolliest of all to hear that deep rich voice of his old father, deep and rich as the foam on his quart pot of ale, calling out from the gallery, "Put it down with a vee, my lord, put it down with a vee."

In reading these works of his, Mr. Dickens neither follows the original text, nor adheres closely by any means to the text of the pretty and convenient hand books which he has himself condensed and prepared. He leaves out a good deal, changes words, mistakes words sometimes, and really much of it seems impromptu. I thought, now and then, that he was thinking of his present audience, and putting in what he fancied would suit better here than in London.—His delivery has marked peculiarities, and is thoroughly original. He deals much in the rising inflection at the end of sentences, is sometimes monotonous, and keeps up old pronunciations that we seldom hear on this side of the water: Clark for clerk, wind with a long i, Ojus for odious, are a few.—But, on the whole, his accent and pronunciation are not what we call English. The great difference between his delivery, and that of our best Americans, is in its slow, deliberate, clear-cut distinctness. This is in the descriptive parts. Where it suits the occasion, his delivery takes every shape, and is good for all needs. Scrogg's growl—Bob Cratchite's trembling appeal—the pompous bluster of Buzfuz—Mrs. Cluppin's maundering whise, and Sam Weller's manly yeoman's shout are all echoed by that magical voice, which will be recognized wherever it is heard in America as the voice of a great author, and of the greatest, perhaps, (certainly in versatility of power the greatest,) that has ever charmed our Western world.

THE FIRE EXTINGUISHER.

This Portable, Self-Acting Fire Engine

IS OFFERED TO THE Public as a ready, certain and speedy means of preventing LARGE CONFLAGRATIONS.

Until the invention of the

Portable, Self-Acting Fire Engine,

Fires have been met by means too slow, too late and too cumbrous. But few persons in this country have the advantage of large hand or Steam Fire Engines, and those few often suffer a total loss of their property by reason of the great length of time consumed in sending for and getting them into working order.

BUT NOT SO WITH THE FIRE EXTINGUISHER, which being kept charged and standing in your House, Store or Factory, is always Ready for Instant Service.

The fire can be extinguished and your property saved without loss or damage, or even an alarm of Fire.

The first few minutes of conflagration decide the fate of the property; "a little fire is quickly put out, which, being suffered, rivers cannot quench."

THE EXTINGUISHER, being very simple in its operation, and entirely self-propelling, requires no previous skill or practice to operate it, and being so light, portable and self-acting, is capable of being used in any place, by any person, male or female.

It puts out all fires, arising from whatever cause. You are saved from the immense water damage caused by large Engines.

You can effect insurance on your property

At Lower Rates,

if protected by the Extinguisher.

The Extinguisher is no humbug, as thousands of good men in Europe and America will testify. I have already put these little Engines into some of our best Factories and largest Schools in N. C.

No House, Store, Factory or Corporation is safe without them.

The price is as nothing, compared with the protection they afford.

Send for a Circular.
